

An General Guide to Packing for Summer

(Not An Exact Science)

• Clothing

You'll want enough clothes for one week. There is a laundry facility at camp, but it is shared between all the summer staff, and you will want to have enough clothes in case you can't make it to laundry one night.

- The Basics:
 - Short Sleeve Shirts/Tank Tops
 - Athletic Shorts/Active Shorts
 - The mornings and evening scan get chilly, so something to stay warm.
 - Please be mindful of the clothing you bring (styling, words, etc.). We desire to glorifying God, evening our clothing, and to be above reproach.
- Footwear - at least two pair.
 - You will need a pair of closed toed shoes (i.e. tennis shoes) for the challenge course, kitchen work, and anywhere that a sandal might not be appropriate.
 - You may want a pair of shoes that can get wet and muddy (while at the lake, in creeks, etc.) Sandals such as Chaco or Teva are great for this.
 - Consider a pair of hiking boots - these are great for the rough terrain on the trails and are just a general, good durable shoe.
 - Don't forget the socks.
- Swimsuit(s)
 - Girls: Conservative, one-piece suits.
 - Boys: No speedos.
- Rain Jacket - optional, but handy for any rain storms during summer.
- Don't forget storage for all your clothes! There is some space next to the beds, but under-bed storage works best.

• Bathroom

- Toiletries - Toothpaste, toothbrush, deodorant, shower stuff (soap, shampoo, etc).
- Towel(s) - We suggest at least two towels. One for showers and one for the lake.

• Laundry

- Laundry detergent
- Hamper or laundry bag - really just something to hold/transport your dirty clothes.

• Bedding

- Sheets (twin) or sleeping bag or blankets; and a pillow.
- Fan - Lodging is air conditioned with window A/C units, but fans are still helpful for moving air

(Continued On Second Page)

An General Guide to Packing for Summer

(Not An Exact Science)

• Miscellaneous

- Water bottle - Nalgene or something similar.
- Flashlight - If you have a headlamp, this is even better.
- Watch - You don't want to be late!
- An alarm - You'll want something to wake you in the morning, whether that be your phone, a watch, an alarm clock, or a rooster.
- Sun Gear - Hat, Sunscreen, Sun Glasses, etc.
- Bible.
- Insect repellent.
- Cell Phone and Charger.
- There is Wi-Fi available in the Dining Hall/Office area.
- Medications (Prescription drugs must be in original container with attached label).
- If you have a musical instrument, those are always a plus at camp.
- Anything else you might want to use to spruce up/decorate your living arrangement for the summer.